GENERAL
BIBLIOGRAPHY

Foreword

The present General Bibliography does not include the references already reported in the specific bibliographies in the inserts or in the appendices of this volume, but only the more general ones.

This bibliography is subdivided into seven sections: 1. Books, performances, audiovisual material and CD-ROMs; 2. Articles, Monographs and Manuscripts; 3. Documents of the Presidency of the Buongoverno Toscano (1814-1848); 4. Registry Office documents; 5. Religious and municipal censuses of Florence; 6. Legal and trial records (USA); 7. Letters written or received by or concerning Antonio Meucci (with the exception of the ones pertaining to legal or court proceedings, which are listed under Legal and trial records).

In some cases (for instance, the Letters) the order followed is chronological rather than alphabetical, for easier consultation.

The Legal and trial records are listed in alphabetical order according to the type of document: Affidavit, Argument, Circular, Deed, Deposition, Incorporation, Letter, Mortgage, Opinion, Petition, Records, Report, Testament, etc. and, for each type, they are listed in alphabetical order, by family name of the person involved. As said above, the Letters listed here are those of a legal nature or related to court proceedings.

For convenience of the reader, in some references, the archive where a copy of the same can be consulted is mentioned. The archive is either indicated in full, or with its abbreviation, as listed in the previous paragraph "Archives consulted and abbreviations."

Unless otherwise indicated, all the documents are filed under Common Affairs (Record Group No. 175). Hereinafter, the number of the record is followed by the exponent ^r (recto) or by the exponent ^v (verso) depending on whether it is the front or the back of the sheet filed in the archive. ⁶It should come as no surprise that some documents were assigned to more than one case. This was due to the fact that they were connected with other cases. For instance, case No. 1500 concerning the subsidy requested by Ficini was connected with case No. 1533 pertaining to the injury suffered by the latter on account of Antonio Meucci.

ANALYTICAL INDEX

Foreword

The page numbers reported in this Analytical Index refer to the edition on paper of the book (in Italian). They are not essential for the electronic version of the book since the reader can use the "Find" command to retrieve any desired information, without consulting this Analytical Index. This notwithstanding, we report it here for completeness.

This index does not include the names that appear in the bibliographic references.

The page numbers in bold letters are where the item indicated is dealt with more extensively.

The illustrations are indicated with 'ill.', followed by the page number.

If an item appears several times on the same page, it is only indicated once.

The explanatory notes are written in italics. If, however, they form an integral part of the indexed word they are written in normal print.

The cities in the United States are indicated by name, followed by the two-letter abbreviation of the State, after the comma, e.g. 'Washington, DC'. The cities in Italy are indicated by name followed by the two-letter abbreviation of the province in brackets, e.g. 'Villa S. Giovanni (RC)' unless they are chief province towns, in which case they are followed by [I], the abbreviation of 'Italy.' The cities in other countries are indicated by name, followed by the international abbreviation of the country in square brackets, e. g. 'Bogenhausen [D]'. For convenience of the reader said abbreviations are reported hereinafter.

In some cases, there is a main entry (e.g. 'Meucci, Antonio') and several orders of subentries (up to three). The subentries are preceded by one or more dashes (up to three), depending on the order in which they appear (e.g. '— speaking telegraph ...'; '— — reel ...'). The subentries may either precede or follow the main entry. For example, the entry 'New York' includes subentries such as 'Public Library,' to indicate 'New York Public Library,' and 'Port of' to indicate 'Port of New York.'

The note 'see' is a reference for the reader to the word that either follows 'see' or, if not shown, precedes it (e.g. 'Leclanché battery see' refers the reader to the entry 'battery'). If there are several cross-references, they are separated by semicolons (;). If the cross-referenced entry is a subentry, the main entry is shown followed by the symbol /, repeated as many times as needed to reach the desired subentry. For example, 'reel ... see Meucci, Antonio/speaking telegraph .../reel' means that 'reel' is indexed under the subentry 'speaking telegraph ...,' which is a subentry of 'Meucci, Antonio.'
